FEA State Fall Conference Oct. 23, 2007

Over 400 students and FEA Advisors from 29 schools attended the FEA State Fall Conference on Oct. 23rd at ASU College of Teacher Education & Leadership. We had outstanding speakers including Dr. Mari Koerner, Dean of the ASU College of Education, Margaret Garcia-Dugan, Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, Darrell Sheppard, SRP, and Miriam Podrazik, Exceptional Student Services—ADE.

Several breakout sessions were offered including topics on communication, time management, leadership, faculty and college student panels, campus tours, "Best Practices" for FEA Chapters, and a variety of sessions from ASU faculty on elementary, early childhood and special education. We also had Estrella Mountain Community College & Glendale Community College as vendors who provided students valuable information about their programs for teachers.

Competitions for students included: Impromptu Speaking, Essay Writing, Public Service Announcement, Inside Our Schools, Chapter Scrapbook, and FEA Moment. There were more contestants this year and the quality of entries were outstanding. Check out the results in this edition of our newsletter.

Special thanks to all of the advisors and students for being professional and making this event successful. The experiences and training will be beneficial to the students as they prepare for teaching in the future. Also, a special thanks to ASU College of Teacher Education & Leadership for being hosts for the event.
